

CLIMATE CHANGE, GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE: IMPLICATIONS FOR THE SECURITY SECTOR

Join a panel of experts from LAC, the Pacific, Europe and West Africa for a discussion on the intersections between gender-based violence (GBV) and climate security, and the ways through which the security sector can contribute to minimizing GBV related to climate change.

Simultaneous interpretation: ENGLISH, FRENCH, SPANISH, RUSSIAN

21st January 2021

3:00-4:30 PM (CET)

Format: Zoom Webinar
Registration: Click here

Panelists

Itzá Castañeda

Gender and Sustainable Development
Special Adviser, International Union
for Conservation of Nature (IUCN)

Kavita Naidu

Former Climate Justice Programme
Officer, Asia Pacific Forum on Women,
Law and Development (APWLD), and member of the Women and Gender
Constituency of the UNFCCC

Szilvia Csevár

Lecturer and Researcher in Public
International Law, The Hague
University of Applied Sciences (THUAS)

Ngozi Amu

Team Leader and Chief Research/
Analysis, UN Office for West Africa and the Sahel (UNOWAS)

